MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR:

FOIAb3b

General Ginsburgh, U. S. News and World Report, who is a graduate of the Harvard Law School was invited recently to speak at Harvard at a seminar by Professor Leach. Bob Amory had spoken either a week before or a week later at the same seminar. This was the first time that David Lawrence had permitted any of his people to participate in an outside activity of this type and his conditions under which he permitted Ginsburgh to attend were, indeed, much more strict than any CIA applies to its senior personnel.

Mr. Lawrence told Ginsburgh he could attend provided the U. S. News and World Report paid all expenses, that he accept no gratuities of any type, that before accepting it be agreed there would be no announcement in writing of his appearance as a speaker, that there would be no printed matter resulting from his speech either public or private, and that there be no mention of the U. S. News and World Report.
